GREENPEACE FUNDRAISING

- Independence

Greenpeace is supported by individuals. By not accepting funds from political parties, governments, or corporations, we maintain our independence.

Greenpeace can only take risks and confront others because of our political and economic independence. We do not accept funding from any government, political party or corporation. This allows us the freedom to speak our mind and to be unrestricted in what we do and say. Our independence gives us authority and credibility. We take our responsibility for transparency and accountability very seriously.

We always ensure the effective use of funds given by the millions of people who support us.
